Medweb's software privacy policy covers the collection and use of personal information that may be collected by Medweb anytime you interact with Medweb such as when you purchase a Medweb product, contact a technical support or sales associate, sign up for an e-newsletter or request a download of demonstration software.

We collect information such as your e-mail address because it assists us in delivering a high level of customer service. For example, your personal information helps us to keep you informed and up-to-date on the latest product updates and announcements as well as special offers that may be extended from time to time.

When you provide Medweb with your name, email address, mailing address or telephone number, and you do not "opt-out", Medweb representatives and authorized affiliates may use the provided information to alert you to product updates, special offers, updated information, new products and other Medweb information. Other than Medweb representatives and authorized affiliates, Medweb does not offer, sell, or otherwise make available any user-provided information to third parties.

Medweb will send notifications regarding product updates and technical support notices. These messages are deemed essential to the functionality of your product and as such, there is no "opt-out" available for update notifications.

If you do not want Medweb or Medweb representatives to contact you, you may "opt-out" at any time. You may "opt-out" by contacting your Medweb representative or by following the instructions included in the email correspondence. Although most visitors to the Medweb website indicate that they welcome details of Medweb initiatives, educational efforts and other Medweb materials, we acknowledge that individuals should have the right to choose.

Medweb's website utilizes visitor log files or cookies as well as hosted tracking with our website. The information collected with visitor cookies and through the hosted tracking is used to gain a better understanding of which sections of our site are most important to our users as well as identify possible navigation issues. This allows us to enhance your user experience in the future. The data collected from these visitor cookies and hosted tracking does not collect any personally identifiable information and is used in aggregate form only.

Where personal information is required, the Medweb website uses Secure Sockets Layer (SSL) encryption to transmit this data. This is done to prevent the loss, misuse or alteration of the information you have offered. While Medweb strives to protect the personal information you submit to us, no data transmission over the Internet is 100% secure. As such, Medweb cannot guarantee or warrant the security of any information you transmit to us or from our products and you do so at your own risk. Once your information has been received by Medweb, we will make our best effort to ensure the safety and security on our systems. We also take strong precautions to protect your data from loss, misuse, unauthorized access or disclosure, alteration, or destruction.

Medweb provides you with the opportunity to know about the information that Medweb holds about you, together with the ability to correct, amend or delete, as appropriate, any such information that is incomplete or inaccurate.
